I recently bought my house and it has 3 Trane systems in it that the previous owner installed himself but didn't completely finish. 2 units are XL16i units and one is a XL13i. All have TCONT802 touchpad controllers. The 16i units I know are heat pumps and they now work as they should after I had to finish wiring the auxillary electric strips into the units - for some reason he just left them ...
